Reading List Tasks:

For each of the texts you read, summarise the key points in one of the following ways:

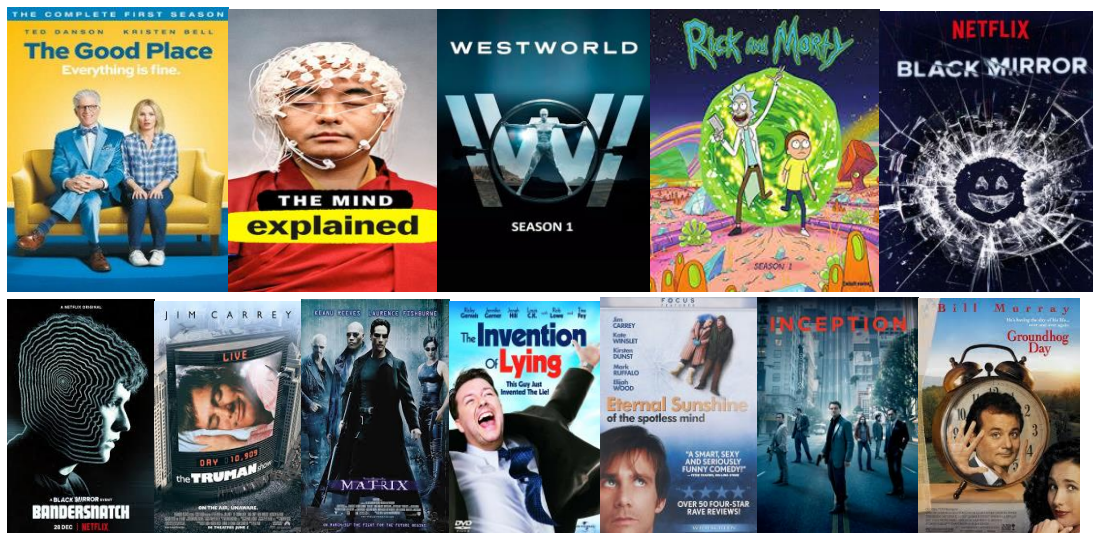

- Write a review of the book, outlining which were the most useful sections and whether you enjoyed the book/why/why not.
- List any key terms from the text in a vocabulary list, researching their meanings (if not clear from the text) and recording these. A dictionary of philosophy may help with this.
- Create a picture mind-map of the key ideas. Use doodles and images to illustrate these. For a guide to mind-mapping, see this short video:

Video Resources and Tasks:

Watch the videos below, choosing one to focus on for your task. Write a list of discussion points/questions it raises. Choose (at least) one of your questions and draft at least three possible answers that might be given.

Carry out these activities:

1. Write a written reflection of the moral questions that each one raises, and how you might respond to these.
2. Try to list your own “moral code” or “rules for life”. Include 5-10 elements.
3. Can you imagine any exceptions to your own “rules”?

Written/ Reflection Tasks:

1. Consider your definitions of the following terms:
  - Truth
  - Reality
  - Good
  - Evil
  - Moral
  - God
  - Time

For each concept, try to argue against your own definition. Can you see any flaws in your ideas? How might they be criticised? What conclusions can you reach about how we define these concepts?

2. List five facts that you know to be true. For each one, explain how you know it to be true. Are any of your “facts” uncertain? What would have to happen to prove them irrefutably (without question)?
3. Create a fact file of the philosophers Plato, Aristotle and Kant. Include pictures, key facts and a brief outline of their philosophical ideas.
4. Choose a story from the news that includes one of the following themes:
  - Simnualted Killing
  - Euthanasia
  - Capital punishment
  - Humans’ treatment of animals

Write a response to the story, considering several different points of view.

Essay Questions

A. Write your own response to the following question:

“Without society, would there be moral rules?”

In your answer you should:

- Include a range of different opinions
- Conduct your own research to find possible answers from different fields of thinking (philosophy, psychology, sociology, religion, etc.)
- Justify your answer with a range of reasons
- Include examples to illustrate your point
- Reach a justified conclusion
- Include a bibliography to demonstrate your own research

B. Write your own response to the following question:

“Is there such thing as objective truth?”

In your answer you should:

- Include a range of different opinions
- Conduct your own research to find possible answers from different fields of thinking (philosophy, psychology, sociology, religion, etc.)
- Justify your answer with a range of reasons
- Include examples to illustrate your point
- Reach a justified conclusion
- Include a bibliography to demonstrate your own research.
